LOCATION

Colchester is Britain's oldest recorded city, granted city status in 2022, and the principal retail and commercial centre for North Essex and South Suffolk. With a city population of over 200,000 and an estimated catchment of approximately 300,000, the population has grown by over 11% since 2011 – outpacing both the East of England and national averages. A median age of 39 skews younger than the regional average, supporting strong demand from food, beverage and experiential operators throughout the day and evening.

The High Street sits at the heart of Colchester's primary shopping and leisure circuit, linking Fenwick – one of the country's leading independent department stores – with Lion Walk and Culver Square. Lion Walk recently recorded 100% occupancy with footfall up 12% year-on-year, reflecting the strength and momentum of Colchester's retail circuit. The University of Essex brings a significant student population to the city, driving year-round consumer spending.

TRANSPORT LINKS

Colchester station provides direct services to London Liverpool Street in as little as 47 minutes via Greater Anglia, with up to four trains per hour during peak periods. The A12 gives fast road access to the M25 and Central London, with the city approximately 49 miles north-east of the capital. Stansted Airport is within approximately 35 minutes by car.

SITUATION

A landmark position at the heart of Colchester's primary shopping circuit, directly adjacent to Fenwick and between Lion Walk and Culver Square.

9 High Street occupies one of the strongest footfall positions in the city centre, sitting between Lion Walk and Culver Square and directly neighbouring Fenwick. The High Street ensures a consistent flow of shoppers, students and visitors throughout the day and into the evening.

RETAILING IN THE VICINITY

9 High Street sits within Colchester's strongest retail and leisure pitch, directly adjacent to Fenwick – the city's dominant premium department store offering six floors of luxury brands including Chanel, Dior, Jo Malone and Reiss, with Caffè Nero and Carluccio's operating within the store.

Lion Walk is home to Primark, River Island, Boots and JD Sports, while Culver Square adds H&M, TK Maxx and Starbucks. Recent café and coffee openings across the city centre – including Pret at Lion Walk and Knoops – reflect the strength of Colchester's café market and the clear opportunity for quality food and beverage operators on the High Street.
